

Long Distance

Author/Director: Amikam Goldman

Producer: Gum Films

Country: Israel

Length: 52' et 62'

On the street corners of south Tel Aviv, stand, forgotten, public telephones, a reminder of the pre-cellular days. Every weekend, the phones come to life as migrant workers gather around them, taking advantage of the weekly day off to phone home. Waiting on the other end of the line are children, financial difficulties, love - each phone call is a story in itself. Long Distance follows the stories of these intimate relationships through telephone conversations, where the line is dominated not only by the protagonists and their loved ones, but by the great distance, a distance that alters the relationships and remodels them in the economic reality of the Western world.

Awards: Festival Prizes: Best cinematography, DocAviv 2009
Documentary of current affairs, jury award, FIPA 2010
Young Europeans prize, FIPA 2010

Festivals:
Best cinematography, DocAviv 2009
Documentary of current affairs, jury award, FIPA 2010
Young Europeans prize, FIPA 2010

Coproduction TV: Noga communications

Original version: turkish, tagalog, english, twi

Versions available:

English version
French version

Credits:

Author Director : Amikam Goldman, photography : Daniel Kedem, Sound :
Amikam Goldman, editing : Yaara Lipkin-Poran, music : Oren Luttenberg,
Loren Connors

<https://www.andanafilms.com/catalogueFiche.php?idFiche=1104&lang=en>