

Art and Oligarchs

Author/Director: Tania Rakhmanova

Producer: Quark productions

Country: France

Length: 52'

The latest trend among the Russian oligarchs is to purchase works of art, a way to get into the Kremlin's good graces, to gild their image... and to cover up the origin of their fortunes, often acquired in the shadow of post-soviet power.

Following these new amateurs in the footsteps of the well-known collectors of the early twentieth century, the film gives an unprecedented image of Russia where art, easy money and an authoritarian state coexist.

TV participation: France Télévisions

Original version: French

Versions available:

French version

English version

Credits:

Director : Tania Rakhmanova, photography : Georgy Porotov, Sound : Maria Keder, editing : Paul Morris

<https://www.andanafilms.com/catalogueFiche.php?idFiche=1111&lang=en>