

Regopstaan's Dream

Author/Director: Christopher Walker

Producer: Ardèche Images Production

Country: France

Length: 52'

Filmed over three years the film tells the story of the last surviving South African Bushmen and their struggle to reclaim their land in the Kalahari Gemsbok National Park.

From the sand dunes of the Kalahari to the Johannesburg skyscrapers, the film follows the Bushmen leader, Dawid Kruiper, on his odyssey to reclaim not only his land, but to restore a disappearing language, tradition and culture. For most South Africans, the Bushmen are considered as a group that has "died out" and their resurgence in the new South Africa has raised yet more complex and surprising issues.

Festivals:

Rio International Ethnographic Film / Bilan du film ethnographique Paris
Vues d'Afrique Montréal / Zanzibar International Film Festival / 5th
Environment Film Festival Turquie / Ekofilm / Festival du film scientifique
Oullins

Coproduction TV: La Cinquième, TV for the Environment

Original version: English

Versions available:

French version
English version

Credits:

Director : Christopher Walker

<https://www.andanafilms.com/catalogueFiche.php?idFiche=115&lang=en>