

A Distant Thud In The Jungle

Author/Director: Céline Rouzet

Producer: Reboot Films

Country: France, Belgium

Length: 85'

In the heart of Papua New Guinea, the Highlands attract tourists and foreign oil companies. Out of sight, a Huli family and their clan gave their land to ExxonMobil in a dream of modernity. But the money doesn't come... Caught between rival tribes, greedy politicians and one of the most powerful multinationals on the planet, they feel the earth slipping away from under their feet. A world is quietly disappearing.

Awards: Best Documentary Award @ MEDIAWAVE International Filmfestival (Hungary) /
Prix Alimenterre 2023 @ Festival Alimenterre (Belgium)

Festivals:

Moscow MIFF - Official Selection Documentary Competition (Russia) /
JEONJU International Film Festival - Frontline Section (South Korea) /
Doc Edge Film Festival (New Zealand) /
Anû-rû Aboro Film Festival (New Caledonia) /
SPLIT FILM FESTIVAL (Croatia) /
DocsMX (Mexico) /
Zurich Film Festival (Switzerland) /
Etats généraux du film documentaire (Lussas, France) /
Festival de Douarnenez (France) /
Leeds International Film Festival (UK) /
Eatsa Art & Tourism Film Festival, Portugal /
FIFO, Tahiti, Polynésie Française /
MEDIAWAVE - ANOTHER CONNECTION International, Ravazd (Hungary) /
Le Grand Bivouac, Albertville, (France) /
Festival Alimenterre (Belgium) /

Coproduction: ElianeAntoinette, Altitude 100 production

Coproduction TV: RTBF

TV participation: VOO, BeTV

Original version: Huli

Versions available:

Originale version
English version
French version
Dutch version

Credits:

Author Director: Céline Rouzet. photography: Zoltan Hauville. Sound: Greg Le Maître. editing: Léa Masson. music: Lionel Vancauwenberge

<https://www.andanafilms.com/catalogueFiche.php?idFiche=1284&lang=en>